The usual double-header will be played Saturday, Richmond going up against Manchester and Barton Heights tackling

The Richmond base-ball team, of the Twin-City League, yesterday sprung a surprise on the Barton Heights team and upon the public, defeating the crack Northsiders handly in one of the fastest games of the season. In fact, the Barton games of the season. In fact, the Barton Heights men narrowly escaped a shutout. In only one inning did they have more than three men at bat, and that was in the fifth, in which they scored their two runs. The victory for Manager Bender's men was directly due to the brilliant work of Danny Shaw in the box, though he was given good support by his men.

snaw, who formerly played with the conce famous Blue Jeans amateurs, is a seasoned pitcher, with excellent control, good head, plenty of speed and fields his position well. He has been with the Virginia-Carolina League and has just returned to the city. For the first four innings a shutout for the Rosebuds seemed likely, but Shaw weakened somewhat in the fifth, and the suburbanites selzed the opportunity to save disgrace at the hands of the tail-enders. Reese, at the hands of the tail-enders. Reese, who pitched for the Barton Heights, pitched a fine game also, and one that under ordinary conditions would have won with ease. Costly errors by Bache and Taylor, however, neutralized his good work.

Richmond Opens.

The Richmonders opened the fireworks in lively shape, with the first ball pitched, which Crawford lined out for one of the prettiest drives of the local season. He caught one of Reese's curves squarely and smashed out a sizzling line drive to right center field, the ball rolling almost to the distant fence. Crawford unfortunately fell while turning for second base, and the time lost prevented his secring a home run on the ford unfortunately fell while turning for second base, and the time lost prevented his scoring a home run on the drive. As it was he is credited with a clean three-bagger, which evoked wild applause. Knightly worked Reese for a base, but Ford and Shaw went down. Bache's failure to handle Shaughnessy's hot bounder allowed Knightly to score, Crawford having aiready counted.

In the fourth inning Jones led off with a dbuble after one man had gone out. He scored on Taylor's error and a fielder's choice. Barton Heights got in the game in the fifth inning. Booker walked and Tritton took first on a fielder's choice by which Booker had been retired at second. At this critical moment Bache landed on one of Shaw's swift ones, driving a red hot liner at the pitcher, which he deflected, but was unable to stop, the drive scoring as a base hit, and counting Tritton.

Crawford's error and Taylor's single to right allowed Bache to score. Shaw settled down then and fanned the next batter, and Reese went out on a drive to Shaughnessy.

to Shaughnessy.

Close Finish.

Close Finish.

With the score three to two and both pitchers doing fine work neither team was able to score again until the ninth. Then after two hands were out Robertson worked Reese for a base, and Bender gratefully received a similar gift. Crawford again measured up to the emergency, lining out a safety which scored Robertson and Bender. Knightly got into the hammer work and lined out one which scored Crawford with the last run. Ford ended the fun by fanning. With the big end of its batting order Barton Heights falled to get going, Rose going out short to first and Phillips sending a fly to center. Hoskins hit the ball into Shaughnessy's mit and the score stood: Richmond. 6: Barton Heights, 2. The tabulated score shows further details of play:
